

MOTOR VEHICLE WITH MOVABLE ROOF PART

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A motor vehicle has at least one movable roof part which extends in the closed position between lateral frame parts positioned above side windows and can be displaced from this position into an open position held inside the auto body. In the open position, the frame can be disassembled, and the frame parts may be separable from each other or hinged together.